About the Association for Children’s Mental Health

The Association for Children’s Mental Health was founded in 1989 by two mothers who worked tirelessly to bring help and hope to other families by empowering them with information, support and encouraging the development of strong family member/ professional collaborative relationships. They also offered networking and leadership opportunities and worked to ensure that family voice was listened to and valued. All of their efforts were targeted at ensuring that all kids with mental health challenges and their families had access to the services and supports they needed and ACMH has been working tirelessly to carry out their legacy ever since!
